

Performers

While a few 2020 dates remain booked, in truth, music events in The Doghouse at The Guide Dog won't resume until 2021, if at all. By mid-June ['20], 6 acts need rescheduling, plus at least 2 more, if ALL 2020's events get postponed.

That curtails the number of 2021's free slots, so PLEASE use your common before angling for dates in the first half of the year. Any future Focsle may find itself viable only for DIY music, if virus-worried folks elect to steer clear of its tiny venue. If you're going to ask, please meet the admin. halfway by checking that YOUR available dates are those when The Focsle actually runs! Assuming that's OUR job might not yield the best response.

Even 2021 is mighty uncertain for such a small concern. Contact Jon Ellis for current situation. Unless others have taken on the running [thus this website], if you get no reply from Jon [he can take a while] it may be that The Focsle has, regrettably, ceased for good.

Facebook, a typical place to look, may not be a reliable information-source: while both previous "co-Organizers" each had / have personal pages, they were thinly supported, and neither of them were au fait with running Groups pages.
